£60m plan to transform Cowley shopping centre

Scheme features a hotel, shops, restaurants and 200 flats

By George Welch

A £60 MILLION plan has been revealed to transform an Oxford shopping centre originally dating back to the sixties.

The multi million scheme to 'reinvigorate and revitalise' Templars Square in Cowley was unveiled by developers NewRiver last week, who also released images of their plan for the first time.

It includes shops, a hotel, restaurants, an improved streetscape and pedestrian routes a modernised car park and stylish new feature entrances.

More than 200 one-, two- and three-bedroom apartments, including affordable homes, are also being proposed.

NewRiver said the application "will preserve the much loved existing Templars Square shops while bringing forward a range of significant improvements to create a more vibrant and thriving community in Cowley"

It added that the proposals presented a "once in a generation opportunity to revitalise Cowley town centre"

The original open-air Cowley Centre was opened in 1965 but transformed decades later when it was roofed over and became Templars Square.

NewRiver is in talks with Oxford City Council over the plan and will be staging a public consultation at Templars Square on January 20 and 21.

Cowley councillor Dave Henwood said there were still design changes to be submitted.

He said: "Currently the social housing doesn't meet requirements so the developer will have to come back with a different plan.

"We have also asked for raised and diagonal crossings to be included around the schools to slow the traffic and make it safer for the children."

The shopping centre has been well kept, but Mr Henwood said "The out side needs a facelift and maybe even some surgery."

He added, "This is a great opportunity for the area and we are excited about the changes."

Woman badly hurt in city centre bus crash

AN elderly woman was taken to hospital with life-threatening injuries after being hit by a coach in Oxford city centre

South Central Ambulance Service said the 77-year-old woman sustained serious leg injuries in the accident in St Aldate s shortly before 2 30pm on Monday

The coach ran over the woman's legs said an ambulance service spokesman. The victim was taken to the John Radcliffe Hospital.

The Oxford Bus Company Oxford to-London X90 bus was cordoned off at the top of St Aldate s as police carried out their investigations

Ambulance and fire services were also on the scene. An air ambulance hovered over the scene but the victim was taken to hospital by road.

The bus firm's managing director Phil Southall said. "At around 2 25pm this afternoon [Monday] one of our coaches was involved in an incident with a female pedestrian on the High Street in Oxford.

"We are currently working closely with the emergency services with the wellbeing of the pedestrian being our utmost priority

"A full investigation into all the circumstances surrounding the incident will take place as a matter of urgency."

The accident caused major delays to bus services as both High Street and St Aldate s were closed in both directions.

Witness Amy Andrews tweeted "Incident at St Aldates looks grisly I saw lots of blood underneath the front of the X90 bus "

Any witnesses to the accident should contact police on 101

Three lucky to flee suspected arson at house

By George Welch

A FIVE YEAR-OLD boy and two adults cheated death when they fled their burning Kidlington home in a suspected arson attack in the early hours.

Police are appealing for witnesses following the fire which is believed to have started in the porch at the two-storey terrace house in Bassett Way at about 1.50am on Friday

They say an offender/s is believed to have started the blaze at the front door of the property which then spread.

As well as the boy, a 50-year old man and a woman, aged 38, were able to escape from the house through windows

The man and the boy were treated for smoke inhalation at the scene by paramedics but the woman was taken to hospital for treatment for smoke inhalation. She has since been discharged.

Fire engines from Kidlington and two from Rewley Road fire station in Oxford attended.

Investigating officer Det Con Ruth Ivins, of Bicester Force CID said. "We believe that arson was the cause of this incident, which could have led to the death of three people, one of whom was a five-year-old child.

"Fortunately, they all managed to escape from the property but the outcome could have been very different."

Watch manager Gary Crone, of Kidlington Fire Station, described the blaze as "a very serious incident"

He said. "When we arrived, we were faced with a substantial fire in the front-door area which my crew had to deal with before they could get into the property to search for the occupants.

"It was at that time that the occupants were making their escape from the first floor"

He added. "Whilst this type of fire is fortunately rare, it is important that householders think about what they would do in the event of a fire in their home and work out a fire plan."

Steve Hurd, whose sister lives next door to the fire-hit home in Bassett Way posted on Facebook. "Thank god nobody was hurt and they all managed to get out."

Mr Hurd has set up a gofundme page to help the family recover from the damage to their home

To date, £741 of the £2,500 target has been raised.

Results of community centre consultation revealed

Public backs £2.3m option

By George Welch

RESIDENTS have backed the idea of a £2.3m redevelopment of East Oxford Community Centre.

In the results of a month-long consultation released last week, 80 per cent of the respondents were in favour of the move for the site on the corner of Cowley Road and Princes Street.

A total of 148 people completed the Oxford City Council consultation throughout October.

The £2.3m scheme includes the building of new film and music studios, offices and community spaces.

The other two options were a minor refurbishment scheme, including painting, decorating, patch repairs and new flooring, and a £1.4m major refurbishment and minor redevelopment scheme including painting, decorating, patch repairs new flooring, new windows and a new roof for the advice centre, and demolishing and reproviding B Block as a new facility.

The favoured option involves selling the East Oxford Games Hall and Film Oxford sites, along with the northern section of the centre for housing to raise funds.

The council, which says it is under extreme financial pressure following budget cuts only has £670,000 of its own money to invest in the project.

Councillor Christine Simm, the council's executive board member for culture and communities, said: "We would like to thank everyone who took the time to take part in the consultation.

"East Oxford Community Centre is an important community facility, and we want the whole community to be involved in this project.

"As the project moves forward, users and residents will continue to be kept informed at every stage."

Council officers are now preparing a report to go before its executive board in the New Year.

The report will ask the board to take a decision on the way forward for the project.

The full consultation results, the feasibility study and more information about the proposals at the community centre can be found online at: http://tinyurl.com/zqrrhuf

Consultation to be held next month

The shopping centre's manager Owen Acland said: "The vision for Templars Square is hugely exciting because it preserves what people like most – the mix of shops the community feel, the welcoming atmosphere – while introducing the modernisation and step-change in quality that only substantial new investment can bring."

About 57 jobs would be created, NewRiver said, as well as 380 construction jobs.

Allan Lockhart, NewRiver's property director said: "We are delighted to have submitted the planning application. This milestone marks a real step-change for Cowley and is long overdue.

"The case for regeneration is absolutely clear and this is an excellent opportunity to reinvigorate the heart of the town centre with high quality and modern, yet sensitively designed, development that will be a source of real pride locally."

The Oxford Design Review Panel, comprised of experts which worked closely with NewRiver in developing the plan, said: "This is an important scheme in terms of providing new user experiences in the centre of Cowley and the quality of the public realm plays a central role in achieving this."

OXFORD: Discarded clothing or material on the top of a light could have started a fire at the O2 Academy in Oxford on Sunday.

Fire crews from Oxford and Kidlington were sent to the scene at 2pm after the first floor of the Cowley Road music venue caught fire.

They extinguished the fire in one of the backstage rooms which had started on a floor lamp. Smoke was removed from the room using a fan.

Wheelchair dancer sues over floor damage claim

By Alex Iszatt

A HEADINGTON paraplegic who was banned from a dance competition is taking legal action against the company that claims he damaged its floor.

Fred Walden, 54, was watching a dance competition run by Jive Addiction at the Radisson Blu hotel near Heathrow when he took to the floor in the break.

"All I wanted to do was dance, and they came over and stopped me saying I was damaging the floor I was then (subsequently) banned for life."

Jive Addiction had brought its own floor – which Mr Walden says he was told by the company costs £50 000 and is made of Russian birch plywood – a product which he claims is only as strong as the varnish.

Mr Walden immediately took photos of the area where he had been dancing which shows no damage. At a later date, the company sent him some blurry images of a close up section of the floor which Mr Walden claims could have been anywhere.

Not new to dance competitions, and plywood floors, Mr Walden, has travelled the country dancing at jive, blues and swing competitions since he took up dancing 15 years ago.

"I have never had any complaints, and nine of the organisations have backed up my claim by saying I never damaged their floors."

Mr Walden, who dances with able-bodied partners is suing Jive Addiction for discrimination under the Equality Act 2010 – he is seeking a declaration that the company acted in breach of its obligations under the act, an order that it should comply with its obligations and damages for injury to his feelings. If I had genuinely damaged the floor I would be the first to apologise but I didn't."

Originally Mr Walden only wanted an apology from the company after the incident in October 2015 after their proof didn't show the specific area of the floor that was damaged. They refused to apologise and Mr Walden says he has been left with no option but to take the matter to court, a process which has taken six months so far.

"I would love an apology – but now I want to clear my name."

Jive Addiction has been approached for a comment.

'Is that all?' County funding not enough to tackle potholes

A pothole on Church Hill in Witney last year (Picture by Mark Merrell)

A COUNCILLOR has hit out at insufficient funding to repair thousands of potholes across Oxfordshire.

The Department for Transport (DfT) announced a £78m fund to fix potholes across the country on Monday and also revealed Oxfordshire would benefit from £1,315 800 – enough to fix almost 25 000 potholes.

Oxfordshire's allocation of £1.3m is only beaten in the South East by Surrey (£1.35m), Hampshire (£2.1m) and Kent (£2.2m).

But West Oxfordshire District councillor for Witney Duncan Enright said the provision is not enough.

In response to being told the figure, the Labour candidate in Witney's October by-election said "Is that all – [that] doesn't sound like enough."

Following the recent distribution of funds, a total number of 24,800 potholes across the county will be fixed or stopped from forming.

Cllr Enright added. "Any extra addition is welcome. As a result of my (and others) efforts and campaigning there has been an improvement.

"It is important that people keep reporting pot holes and remind councillors to do their duty."

Following last week's Autumn Statement, transport secretary Chris Grayling released a breakdown of the government's major investment in roads.

The Government has allocated over £11.6 million to the South East region to fix around 220 000 potholes from 2017 to 2018 or stop them forming in the first place.

According to the report, it costs £53 on average to fill a pothole.

Report: Violence on the rise inside Bullingdon Prison

By George Welch

STAFF shortages are damaging morale and may have caused a rise in violence at HMP Bullingdon, according to a new report.

The report, which was published on Monday by the prison's Independent Monitoring Board (IMB), said 'indiscipline and violence have increased noticeably" since 2013 cutbacks.

The Board said it is concerned about "increasing difficulties' in recruiting and maintaining the high levels of service expected.

It also said the "serious shortcomings" of contractor Carillion, which has been carrying out repairs and work projects, were having a substantial impact.

The report said. "The prison's effective and efficient functioning has been affected substantially by the performance of outside contractors. Service levels provided by Carillion in the works area have been far from satisfactory and this has caused significant difficulties for the prison's staff."

The Ministry of Justice said it was looking for improvement from Carillion and said "public funds should always be subject to the highest scrutiny"

A Ministry of Justice spokesperson added. ' The prisons minister Sam Gyimah has met with Carillion and we are working to make sure the company is delivering what is expected of them.

"We have robust processes in place to closely monitor and manage the performance of all contractors across the prison estate and will not hesitate to take tough action where standards fall short."

In addition, substance abuse is still a significant contributory factor in reported rising levels of violence by prisoners, the report claimed.

MP for Banbury Victoria Prentis said. "The IMB report highlights many of the challenges facing our excellent prison staff at HMP Bullingdon and across the prison estate.

"Through my work on the Justice Committee, I have been involved in developing an ambitious programme of prison reform which I hope will ease pressures on staff.

"I am in regular contact with the Governor of HMP Bullingdon Ian Blakeman, and have no doubt about his commitment to the prison and his officers."

As part of their investigation, the Board carried out 465 visits to the prison, situated in the village of Arncott, near Bicester which opened in 1992 and holds up to 1 114 male inmates.

Paul Miller, chairman of IMB Bullingdon, said: "The Board has highlighted for the minister the fact that it has become increasingly difficult to maintain staffing at levels defined as acceptable by the prison service.

"This difficulty has had a detrimental effect on the quantity and quality of the interactions of staff with individual prisoners and may relate to the rise in violence and indiscipline."

The Ministry of Justice said it is recruiting 2 500 extra officers across the prison system.

Youth club's £50,000 for new centre

MEMBERS of a Woodstock youth club are celebrating after councillors agreed a £50 000 grant to help build their new purpose-built home.

The youth centre will now press ahead with its plans to construct a clubhouse on its existing site in Recreation Road, which will house its hundreds of weekly users as well as other groups.

The grant which was given as part of the Community Facilities Grant, was agreed by cabinet members at West Oxfordshire District Council (WODC) and means the club is near to the £208 000 it needs to start building work following a 10-year fundraising campaign.

Jane Hibberd, vice chairman and youth leader at the centre welcomed the funding. She said. "We are absolutely delighted with the funding – it has given us a great boost to move forward with this. It will bring in new people and help provide the community leaders of the future."

The Nordic building, which has planning consent, will replace the existing clubhouse which is more than 50 years old. It is hoped building will take place next summer.

Councillor Jeanette Baker, cabinet member for leisure and health at WODC. said: "Woodstock is a popular and vibrant youth club. I am delighted it has secured funding and look forward to visiting the new clubhouse in the near future."

Health trust has made significant improvements

By George Welch

A HEALTH trust heavily criticised for not investigating hundreds of patient deaths is improving patient safety, according to inspectors.

The Care Quality Commission (CQC) who published their report from their September inspection on Friday said Southern Health had made "a number of significant improvements" in identifying risks to patients.

The report said "It was our view that they demonstrated clearer recognition of the need to drive through and complete the work to assess, manage and prioritise patient safety issues.

"There was clear evidence that action was being taken in a more timely and proactive manner."

The trust has prioritised safeguarding patients with mental health disabilities the watchdog added.

Issues at the trust came under greater scrutiny after 18-year-old Connor Sparrowhawk drowned in a bath at Slade House in Headington, one of its Oxford facilities, in July 2013.

• Katrina Percy

In December 2015 an investigation commissioned by NHS England found that Southern Health had only properly investigated 272 of 722 deaths over the previous four years.

The trust was given a warning notice by the CQC after inspectors visited in January – it also remains in breach of a number of regulations from an October 2014 inspection.

The inspection team said the trust had taken sufficient action to meet the requirements set out in the warning notice but the report added there "is still significant work to do".

When the inspection was carried out, the heavily criticised former chief executive Katrina Percy was in charge.

The trust was hit with more criticism when it appeared Ms Percy was offered a tailor-made post at the trust on the same salary.

She quit as chief executive in August, citing "media attention" before stepping down from her new role advising GPs in October.

Alan Yates, who was appointed interim chair of the trust on November 3 will head a major investigation into the running of the organisation, which is expected to be published in February next year.

Southern Health, which provides mental health services to patients across Oxfordshire, Hampshire, Dorset, Wiltshire and Buckinghamshire, "require improvement in its safe 'effective and 'well-led category.

It achieved 'good' in the caring' and 'responsive' categories.

Scuba club celebrates its 60th anniversary

AN Oxford scuba club, whose members helped raise the sunken warship the Mary Rose is celebrating its landmark 60th anniversary.

Oxford Sub-Aqua Club formed in 1956 and in tribute to its six decades of underwater exploration, the club has shared memories from its photo archives.

The divers have enjoyed exploring some of the world's most historic underwater sites including Second World War wrecks in the UK and Normandy and Henry VIII's famous battleship, Mary Rose which sank in battle in 1545.

The club's founder Ann Symons died last month aged 92. She is regarded as one of the pioneers of the sport in Oxford, and will be remembered with a dive in a lake in Snowdonia. The dive will take place 1,430ft above sea level in an ice-covered, 60m deep lake.

Professor Chris Stevens, the club's current diving officer and an advanced instructor who joined the club 16 years ago, said: "Sixty years ago there were only a very small number of people diving. We have pictures of guys stepping in the reservoir in Oxford in their woolly jumpers."

He added: "We have a broad range of ages, our eldest is in their 80s while our youngest is just four – my little lad Alfie."

Christmas tree sales to help Skye charity

By George Welch

AN Oxford gardening business is getting into the festive spirit by supporting the Oxfordshire Guardian's charity of the year Blue Skye Thinking, for the second time

Oxford Edens will donate money from every Christmas tree sold to the local charity

The Blue Skye Thinking charity was set up by Sally and Andrew Hall in memory of their son Skye, who died in 2014 from side effects of his treatment for Medulloblastoma, an aggressive and cancerous brain tumour

Oxford Edens, based at Heyford Park, is selling premium quality Nordmann Firs and for every tree sold, £3 will go towards the charity's new appeal, Aim Skye High.

Ginny Power, from Oxford Edens, said: "We supported Blue Skye Thinking in the same way last year and it was so popular raising £100 towards its work.

"When we heard about the new Aim Skye High Appeal we knew we had to offer our support again.

"We are hoping everyone will get into the Christmas spirit and help us raise as much as possible for this wonderful cause."

Oxfordshire residents can have trees delivered to their home by Oxford Edens or go along to the Boundary House pub in Abingdon on Saturday from 10am to 3pm to buy their tree.

Charity founder Sally Hall said: "We had such good feedback from last year we are delighted that Oxford Edens are doing the same again. Every contribution counts and we are very grateful to Oxford Edens for their support."

Money raised will go towards the charity s Aim Skye High Appeal which aims to raise £50 000 towards a three-year Post Doctoral research position at the renowned Northern Institute for Cancer Research.

Only just over one per cent of cancer funding goes towards research into brain tumours, the number one cancer killer in children and teenagers

To order your Christmas tree email gunny@oxfordedens.co.uk or visit https://oxfordedens.co.uk/christmas-trees/ for more information.

Infant research grant awarded

A RESEARCH team at Oxford University has received a grant of more than £2m to improve health and development of pre-term infants and reduce millions of preventable deaths around the world.

The £2 221 138 has been awarded from the Family Larsson Rosenquist Foundation (FLRF) a charitable organisation that promotes and supports breastfeeding and human milk.

The foundation has teamed up with the International Fetal and Newborn Growth Consortium for the 21st Century (INTERGROWTH 21st) a global network of more than 300 researchers and clinicians from 18 countries, all coordinated from the University of Oxford.

Michael Larsson, chairman of the Family Larsson-Rosenquist Foundation, said: "Children should have the best possible nutritional start in life. This is even more important for pre-term infants with their special needs and heightened risks We are delighted to partner with the University of Oxford by supporting the INTERGROWTH 21st Consortium in their implementation efforts."

Pre-term birth complications are the leading cause of death among children under five, responsible for nearly one million deaths in 2015.

Festival lights up the city centre

AROUND 100 000 people took to the streets of Oxford as the city was lit up for this year's Christmas Light Festival.

The festival took place between Friday and Sunday and saw events and art installations take place across the city.

The weekend long celebrations began with around 200 children taking part in a lantern procession through the city centre telling the story of Empress Matilda's daring escape from Oxford Castle and King Stephen's armies.

Cultural venues across Oxford, including the city's museums and galleries hosted events across the weekend.

A further 60 000 people visited the Christmas Market in Broad Street and took part in other activities which included the chance to play with a huge musical instrument, an Illumaphonium, creating a unique light and sound show.

Visitors also hugged a sonic sphere in Oxford Castle Quarter and Gloucester Green, met two illuminated 10ft giants Xalia and Atom walking through the streets and enjoyed the sound of community choirs.

Councillor Bob Price, leader of Oxford City Council, said: "This year's Christmas Light Festival was a fabulous mix of activities and offered something for every interest. The Lantern Parade was magnificent and the children and helpers involved deserve warm congratulations for the impressive lanterns.

"I would like to thank the Westgate Centre and the University of Oxford for their invaluable support and all the dancers, choirs and performers who made it such a memorable weekend."

Rachel Capell, City Events Officer at Oxford City Council, said: "The festival as a whole is the result of many different partners working together successfully and simply going above and beyond to deliver so many free activities and events for the communities of Oxford."

Ian Nolan, director of Ian Nolan events, one of the organisers, said: "Oxford is the perfect city to celebrate Christmas there is nothing that compares to seeing the lantern parade winding its way around the Radcliffe Camera and watching the joy on children's faces."

Oxford Christmas lights festival attracted around 100,000 visitors

Policeman and dog win commendation

By Samantha McGregor

A POLICE dog and his handler have been given a commendation for their "outstanding work" during a burglary

PC Wayne Mills and Cody were called to Forsythia Close Bicester where a burglary was taking place.

When he entered the property the officer was confronted by the burglar who was armed with two metal bars.

As he tried to arrest the thief, the officer was struck on the head with one of the bars and suffered a serious head injury

But Cody grabbed the other bar stopping the offender from using it.

Despite his injury PC Mills managed to detain the man until other officers arrived.

PC Mills and Cody were recognised at a ceremony at the Thames Valley Police force s training centre in Sulhamstead, near Reading last week.

PC Mills said: "Cody is a man of few words, but I can say I am grateful to be recognised by the Chief Constable for the work myself and Cody have done "

Speaking after the ceremony Chief Constable Francis Habgood said. "It gives me great pleasure to present these commendations to PC Mills and PD Cody

"Cody is a specially trained police dog, to help prevent and detect crime, and his actions were exemplary This commendation recognises and praises the professionalism of both PC Mills and PD Cody and the dedication that goes into the training of a police dog."

The incident took place on September 1 this year

• A 35-year-old man from Oxford has been arrested on suspicion of GBH in connection with the incident and has been bailed until January 13, 2017

Bus route given temporary reprieve

• Councillor Kieron Mallon

A BUS service labelled a "lifeline to elderly residents" has been given a temporary reprieve after a second firm decided to drop it.

The B1 bus route, connecting Easington residents with Banbury town centre was one of the routes dropped by Stagecoach in June after Oxfordshire County Council subsidies were withdrawn.

Abingdon-based operator GoRide stepped in to run it on a trial basis until the end of November, but decided it did not want to run the service past that date.

However, town, district and county councillor Kieron Mallon stepped in to negotiate an extension with GoRide to keep the buses running until January 31

Meanwhile he is hoping to find a new operator or a not-for-profit organisation to take it over

Mr Mallon, whose patch includes Easington, said. "I am exploring several avenues and will continue to discuss options with other bus and travel providers to try to seek a solution for the residents of Easington

"I am thankful to Go-ride for stepping in and continuing the B1 even for the short time they have, this has enabled me to talk with all sorts of operators without Go-Ride this service would have gone already"

County's £15m funding labelled 'disappointing'

By George Welch

FUNDING for road and rail links and investment in research and development will help boost Oxfordshire's economy.

Oxfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership (OxLEP), which is tasked with boosting the county's economy, has welcomed the cash injection despite only receiving £15 million of the £382m it had requested from the Government.

Chief executive of OxLEP, Nigel Tipple said that as part of Chancellor Philip Hammond's planned investment of £2.3bn on UK infrastructure a number of specific project funding announcements presented good prospects for Oxfordshire.

The Government has committed £27m to an expressway between Oxford and Cambridge, via Milton Keynes, and £116m will fund a rail link between the two cities.

> Any deficiency in funding will result in a less dynamic local economy

Mr Tipple said: "Transport funding for both strategic and pinch-point schemes was confirmed to relieve congestion and deliver much-needed upgrades on transport networks. Specifically, the chancellor has responded to recommendations by allocating £110m for investment in the East West Rail Link, and £27m investment for the Oxford Cambridge Expressway are very significant.

"These schemes will pave the way for us to boost our regional economy by enhancing east west connections which support the 'golden triangle' of Oxford, Cambridge and London, to establish the area as a powerhouse of science, technology and innovation."

But the leader of Oxford City Council Bob Price has called the allocation disappointing, saying it does not recognise the potential of Oxfordshire.

He said: "We have a huge potential but we cannot do it without investment.

"Any deficiency in funding will result in a less dynamic local economy and less dynamic national economy."

He said several components of the OxLEP bid, including a £40m fund linked to Culham robotics work, satellite applications in Harwell, climate change research at Oxford University, as well as work on the Oxford rail station, and schools development are under threat.

In addition, investment was requested to fund a £30m science bridge in Didcot over the town's railway.

Mr Hammond also revealed in last week's autumn statement that Oxfordshire will be one of eight regions to carry out a science and innovation audit. It will focus on four key areas for Oxfordshire: autonomous vehicles, space led data applications, digital health, and technologies underpinning quantum computing.

Autumn Statement 2016

NICOLA BLACKWOOD
The Oxford West and Abingdon MP said: 'Five months to the day since the Brexit vote, this is the Autumn Statement that Oxford needed – delivering on the Government's commitment to improve people's life chances. "I am determined to fight for our fair share of this major funding boost."

STEPHEN JOSEPH
The chief executive of Campaign for Better Transport said: '[The Government] is still wasting too much on big road-building schemes. What's needed instead is more support for alternatives to driving, including rail and bus infrastructure."

JOHN HOWELL
The Henley MP said: "The action announced in this Autumn Statement will help local people who are just about managing and ensure that our economy is fighting fit. "This is about putting ordinary working families in the constituency first and building an economy that works for everyone."

DAVID LUSHINGTON
The owner of TaxAssist Accountants in Oxford, Didcot and Abingdon said: "Hard working small business owners were given absolutely no recognition of the major contribution they make to the UK economy."

SIMON MCCANN
The lawyer specialising in construction, development and infrastructure at Oxford law firm Blake Morgan said: "This is great news. This is a step in the right direction where housing shortages, congestion and lack of infrastructure are key issues."

BOB PRICE
The Oxford City Council leader said: 'I am disappointed by the [£15m] allocation because it does not recognise the real potential that Oxfordshire has. We have a huge potential but we cannot do it without investment. Any deficiency in funding will result in a less dynamic local economy."

STEVE CONNEL
The Didcot town mayor said he was incredibly disappointed by the figures put forward, saying it would hurt Didcot from a transport perspective."
It does not mean they [projects like the Science bridge] will be scrapped but they will most likely be delayed."

PHILLIP HAMMOND
The Chancellor of the Exchequer said: 'I am backing the Commission's interim recommendations on the Oxford-Cambridge growth corridor published last week.
It can become a transformational tech-corridor, drawing on the world-class research strengths of our two best-known universities."

The Chancellor announced the allocation of £1.8bn from the Local Growth Fund to English regions. Overall numbers are:
- £556m to LEPs in North of England
- £191m to LEPs in the South West
- £392m to LEPs in the Midlands
- £402m to London and the South East
- £151m to LEPs in the East of England

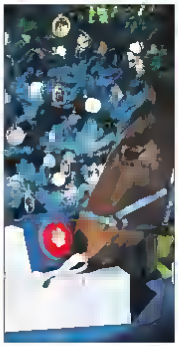
Donations to light up 12-foot tree



BURFORD: A puppy and a horse launched a donations-powered Christmas tree for pet charity Blue Cross in Burford on Thursday last week.

Blue Cross hopes to have the whole tree lit by December 24.

The tree was switched on by Max, a puppy who was rehomed a few weeks ago and Banks the horse.

The tree is part of Blue Cross's Action On Pity campaign that aims to encourage the public to take action on homeless pets.

Hospital school in better health

By George Welch

A SPECIAL hospital school that provides education for children admitted to hospital has defended itself after being given an inadequate rating in its latest Ofsted report.

Oxfordshire Hospital School, based at the Harlow Centre in Oxford, received its overall 'inadequate' rating following an inspection in October because of failures in record-management and information sharing practices associated with its outreach education programme.

The school's teaching and learning, early years, and post-16 programmes were all ranked 'outstanding' but this did not prevent the 'inadequate' report because record management is a vital part of the school's safeguarding responsibilities.

• Angela Ransby

The report, which was released on Thursday last week, added that the school was inadequate in the 'effectiveness of leadership and management' and 'personal development, behaviour and welfare' categories.

But the school, which was criticised by Ofsted for having weak leadership due to a high turnover of interim headteachers, is making rapid progress following the appointment of a new head teacher, Angela Ransby, who started the job just four weeks before the inspection.

The report said: "The new headteacher who has extensive expertise in leading hospital schools, has been in post four weeks. In that time she has had a rapid and significant impact."

The report emphasised strengths in teaching and sector leadership, which it said gives pupils a "varied and meaningful learning diet" that "enables pupils to make the most progress possible" thanks to "highly skilled teaching from subject experts".

Ms Ransby said the school's response to the report has been "quick and decisive".

She said: "In the days following the inspection, we put in place a series of robust new systems to make sure that information is managed and shared in the right way with all our out reach programme partners.

"We are fulfilling our safeguarding duties with renewed understanding and vigour and are working hard to ensure that our actions always reflect best practice.

"Improvements in training are giving our staff the tools and the confidence to scrutinise safeguarding cases more effectively."

Oxfordshire Hospital School taught 888 children receiving in-patient care in Oxford last year. It was set up in the 1950s to deliver education to children across the county with health conditions that prevent them from attending school.

Pupils at the school include patients at the John Radcliffe Children's Hospital, Helen & Douglas House Hospice, Nuffield Orthopaedic Centre, and Highfield Adolescent Unit – as well as through a multi-centre outreach programme providing education on behalf of Oxfordshire County Council.

£242k makeover for station

A £242k revamp of Hanborough railstation has been completed.

The extra 43-space extension, carried out by Great Western Railway (GWR), has been carried out to improve accessibility for passengers.

The development is part of GWR's promise to deliver an extra 2,100 parking spaces to its 208 stations over the next three years.

The car park was officially opened by MP for Witney Robert Courts, leader of Oxfordshire County Council Ian Hudspeth and GWR regional development manager Tom Pierpoint on November 18.

Mr Courts said issues of overcrowding were a "major issue". He said: "I am delighted to see further investment in Hanborough Station.

"The overcrowding is a major issue affecting not only residents of Hanborough but rail users living to Bladon, Freeland, Witney and beyond.

"The extra spaces are much needed and I know will be welcomed by all residents."

GWR's Tom Pierpoint added: "More and more people are turning to rail for their local and long distance journeys; to meet this demand we have improved our timetable; and next year we will start to see new Intercity Express Trains on the GWR network, offering more seats and more frequent services."

Leader of OCC Ian Hudspeth said: "There has been a growing demand over the years from people who want to park at the railway station. Not long ago there was just 26 spaces, and now there's around 250."

Congestion and cricket concerns for new homes

By Samantha McGregor

PLANS to build 100 homes in Chipping Norton have been given short-shrift by town councillors.

Gallagher Estates want outline planning permission to build up to 100 homes, including 40 per cent affordable homes, with public open space and a new road access off Banbury Road.

But at a Chipping Norton Town Council meeting on November 10, councillors raised "strong objections" to the development.

Councillors said the parcel of land, south of Banbury Road, was allocated as general industrial land and it should remain as employment use to meet future growth.

It also raised concerns about the impact on traffic.

In a letter formally objecting to the proposal, the council said: "The Town Council object to this planning application as to the previous response and also stress that the applicant must work with Oxfordshire County Council to make sure that a road goes through the proposed development of 100 houses and across to the London Road when OCC develop their site in this location."

"Some joined up thinking to actually produce an outcome which has been discussed for a few years."

Another objection came from Chipping Norton Cricket Club, whose site bounds the proposed development.

Club secretary David Wood said: "We feel it is our responsibility to raise the very real issue that cricket balls will be hit into the area being considered for housing.

"There is an obvious danger of harm and of damage to property.

"Although it should also be noted that bats have improved and the ball travels further in modern cricket. Given this we feel that any development has to consider this danger and relieve the cricket club of any claim being brought under nuisance or negligence."

He said the club was unhappy the developer had not approached it to discuss the housing plans.

A transport assessment carried out on behalf of Gallagher Estates said: "The report concludes that the development will not have a material impact on the local highway network."

It said there were no highway reasons to "prevent the proposals" being approved.

No date has been given when the plans will be decided by West Oxfordshire District Council.

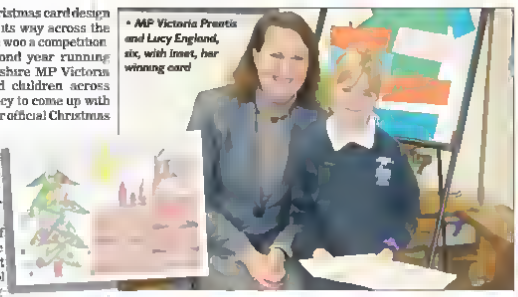
Pupil's card design is a winner

A PUPIL'S Christmas card design is set to wing its way across the globe after she won a competition.

For the second year running, North Oxfordshire MP Victoria Prentis asked children across her constituency to come up with a design for her official Christmas card.

School pupils were asked to use the theme – the nativity star – as their inspiration.

Hundreds of entries were received, but Fritwell School pupil Lucy England's design caught Mrs Prentis' eye.



• MP Victoria Prentis and Lucy England, six, with inset, her winning card

The six-year-old's design included a Christmas tree, nativity star and the Houses of Parliament.

As part of her prize, Lucy has been invited to visit the House of Commons with her family for a tour and tea with Mrs Prentis.

The MP, who went to Fritwell School to meet Lucy last week, said: "I was really pleased to receive so many entries to my annual Christmas Card competition. The children's designs were all brilliant; there were so many to choose from.

"I ended up selecting Lucy's design because I really liked how she had managed to make the Houses of Parliament look Christmassy with all the stars and the Christmas tree. It was lovely to congratulate her in person."

Designs by runners up Ethan Osborne and Jeya Trivedi, both of Bure Park School, Bicester, and Layla Newman, also of Fritwell Primary School, will be printed on the back of Victoria's Christmas card.

Homes rejected

NORTH OXON Plans to build 47 homes in Finmere have been refused.

Cherwell District Council's planning committee raised concerns the number of new homes would "substantially increase" the size of the village, over the lack of sustainable transport options, and the development may harm the village's rural setting.

Cllr Colin Clarke, Cherwell's lead member for planning, said: "Cherwell has an up-to-date housing land supply, and that means we are under no pressure to release new countryside for inappropriate development in locations."

Hail a ride

BICESTER Residents are being reminded the E1 bus services to the new eco settlement Elmsbrook is open to everyone.

The bus is a hail-and-ride facility and runs every 30 minutes from 6.30am to 7.30pm Monday to Friday, and 8am to 6pm on Saturday, travelling down Banbury Road into Bicester town centre.

It also serves Bicester Village Train Station at peak times.

Autumn clear-up

THAME Volunteers are needed to help clear-up at St Mary's Churchyard on Thursday December 8, between 9am and 2.30pm.

People are being asked to bring rakes and secateurs if possible.

As a reward soup and apple pie will be provided.

WIN tickets to the Royal Shakespeare Company's Haymarket Season

DON'T miss Shakespeare's two great romantic comedies Love's Labour's Lost and Much Ado About Nothing (or Love's Labour's Won), as this widely acclaimed pairing arrives at London's Theatre Royal Haymarket, following hugely successful runs in Stratford-upon-Avon and Chichester

Two sparklingly funny romances are brought together by the innovative matching of events, characters and themes. Directed by Christopher Luscombe with a dazzling design by Simon Higlett and glorious music by Nigel Hess, the two productions are set either side of the First World War. Love's Labour's Lost conjures up the carefree elegance of a pre-war Edwardian summer, whilst Much Ado About Nothing presents a changed world with the roaring 20s just around the corner. An immensely talented ensemble perform in both plays which can be seen as single performances or enjoyed as one extraordinary event on our two-show days.

Quite simply, the best plays you'll see anywhere

What we need in Oxford is more home owners AND more Landlords!

Bill Cooper, co-author of The Oxford Property Blog and managing director of Martin and Co, Oxford

I've been asked by a number of readers why I haven't posted following the Autumn Statement by the Chancellor and, in particular commenting on the surprise announcement about the plans to consult on a plan to ban 'upfront tenant fees as soon as possible' Richard and I have been asked to comment by newspapers and so far we've politely declined to comment and here's why

Too many other commentators are jumping to Doomsday conclusions and predicting the end of the property market as we know it, when they don't yet know what is being proposed or when the changes will come into force.

Will it be a tough transition for letting agents? Yes, is it likely to increase costs for landlords? Yes, probably will it help or hinder the supply of affordable homes in Oxford? At best, it will be neutral, at worst, negative.

As readers know I believe that the fundamentals of Oxford property remain strong for investors and owner-occupiers alike Capital growth is excellent and I believe will prove resilient come what may average rental yields remain strong versus national benchmarks, although there is great variability between post-codes and property types (from 3.5% in some areas up to 6% plus for well located houses in multiple occupation).

Savvy investors recognise that they can no longer have a narrow set of investment criteria, instead broadening their horizons to build a portfolio that optimises capital growth and rental yield.

I was delighted to hear that house building is being prioritised via the £2.3bn housing infrastructure fund, and I hope that Oxford benefits early given its minimum requirement for 400 new houses a year (that's around three times the current rate of building) However I feel the Government remains too fixated on the home-ownership dream, rather than taking a broader strategic approach that recognises that new rented social housing and new private rental properties are required as well as new homes to buy – close to 7,000 new rental homes are required in Oxford by 2025 way more than can be built no matter how much money is spent.

Ahead of the detail that is required for informed comment, I am concerned that the Government remains anti-landlord in the mistaken belief that the country needs fewer landlords and more home owners In fact, what we need in Oxford is more homeowners and more landlords. I believe some excellent landlords may be forced out of the market by the sheer weight of Government anti-landlord policy and that others may be put off further investment as alternative investments become viable once more. If that happens, the Government will be forced to back-peddle but by then the damage may already be done

Detached house in village offers lots of space

exposed wood flooring leads to principle reception rooms, white suite WC and stairs to the first floor

The triple-aspect living room with gas fireplace and stone surround has double doors leading to a conservatory overlooking the rear garden. To complete the ground floor there is a separate and spacious study/fifth bedroom with ensuite bathroom. There is also a kitchen and utility room.

The first floor comprises four double bedrooms with an ensuite shower room to the master bedroom, and a family bathroom.

Football club looking to build on success with developer's backing

Harwell Football Club is hoping to propel itself to the next level after securing a sponsorship deal with housebuilder Bloor Homes

The developer which is building at The Willows development in the village has signed a two year agreement with the club worth £1,200 to sponsor the team's playing kit and tracksuits.

Harwell FC is embarking on its first season in Division Two of the North Berkshire Football League after sealing promotion as the champions of the third division in the last campaign

The team plays its home matches at the Harwell Laboratories Recreational Association (HRLA) pitch at the Harwell Oxford science and technology campus.

Thomas Fisher captain of Harwell FC said "As the only football club based in Harwell we are delighted to have secured sponsorship with Bloor Homes for the next two seasons.

"The deal is a great way to celebrate our promotion to the second division and we hope it will help the club step up and perform at the next level.

"Our previous kit had been used for five years and had become very worn out and in need of updating so we're extremely grateful to Bloor for their support which will help us look the part on the pitch this season."

Bloor is building 80 homes at The Willows development off Blenheim Hill in the east of the village

The classic tale of Robinson Crusoe

By James Richings

A SHIPWRECK, treasure hunt and the classic pantiomme dame all add up to high jinks on the high seas for Robinson Crusoe

The shew which runs until Sunday January 8 at The Theatre Chipping Norton is one of the most popular tales.

"As in the original navel, Robinson is shipwrecked on a deserted island, but in our version of the story Robinson was sailing on the "Saucy Nancy" in search of his father's hidden treasure"' actor Craig Rhys Barlow, who plays the title character told the Guardian.

"They are attacked by the Pirate Queen, Betty Babcock, before a violent storm hits.

"The ship is then wrecked on an exotic island, separating Robinson from his mother (the dame in our production), Polly (his new love) the crew and his father's treasure map.

"He struggles to survive in the wilderness before meeting Friday, the last of an indigenous tribe

"But will Friday help Robinson find his mum, honour his dad's legacy, defeat the Pirate Queen and win the girl?"

The popular novel was written by Daniel Defoe and first published in April 1719

It became a huge hit with bookworms around the globe with Robinson Crusoe being regarded as one of the first novels that marked the beginning of realistic fiction as a literary genre

It is now one of the world's most published books, with the plot being adapted into a television show, a stage production and a film.

Pantonumes at The Chipping Norton Theatre are becoming incredibly popular with last year's show 'Robin Hood' a huge success attracting families from all over the county

And Craig is confident that this year's offering will be also be a big hit.

"Pantomime has a very similar formula to the Disney movies," he said.

"They were created primarily for the enjoyment of children, but many of the jokes and plot-points work on two levels one for the children and one for the adults.

"Besides, no one is too old to be a bit silly"

Emilia Williams as Polly Perkins, Andrew Pepper as the Dame, Camille Crumpe, Craig Rhys Barlow as Robinson Crusoe and Simon Shorey as Silver

He added: "I'm thrilled to return to Chipping Norton and I didn't hesitate when I got the call.

"In 2011 I was here for Ali Baba and had a wonderful time

"The Cotswolds are a magical place to spend Christmas and the Chipping Norton Theatre is a magical place to do panto."

"The Chipping Norton panto is always supported unbelievably well by the people of Oxfordshire

'It is a privilege to be a part of thet to feel like you're a big part of what makes people s Christmases great."

Some-Thing very different

By James Richings

FOLLOWING the success of, The Snow Dragon last year the Tall Stories Theatre Company will be returning to the Cornerstone Arts Centre in Didcot.

The company which specialises in children's theatre, will return to the Station Road venue with, 'Emily Brown and the Thing', based on the book by award-winning author Cressida Cowell who is best known for writing the, How to Train Your Dragon series

The production runs from Tuesday until Christmas Eve

And with the show suitable for children over the age of three director Olivia Jacobs insists that the production will have something for parents as well.

"On average, 60 per cent of our audience are grown ups and we always try to ensure that all our productions work for adults as well as children" she revealed to the Guardian.

"As we grow up, we often forget how good it is to be told a great story really well and there's nothing more pleasing than hearing our adult audience members leaving the theatre saying how much they loved the show quite independently of their children.

"And as well as press reviews for the show our website has feedback from grown-ups as well as children and we've been hugely pleased with the response from both."

The story which is part of the Emily Brown book series looks at the title character and her old pet rabbit Stanley

One evening when they are about to fall asleep the two hear a strange noise coming from outside their bedroom window

When they discover that it is a crying Thing who is struggling to fall asleep the three go on a magical adventure to find the Thing's bedtime milk and medicine.

But will Emily and Stanley find the missing items to help the Thing fall asleep? Or will the Thing be upset forever?

"I love many things about working with a family audience," Olivia said.

"I love our audience's willingness to go on a journey and to engage their imaginations. I love the fact that we can involve instinctive audience comments in the performance and make each show specific to who is in the room and I love that fact that we get a very immediate, honest response to our work.

"If the children in the audience don't enjoy it, they will let us know by making noise, letting their seats flip up, wander around or quite literally say 'this is boring'.

"We learn so much from our preview performances of a show just by paying attention to our audience's reactions – seeing if, where and when they get distracted or where the pace in the show has lulled for them.

"It means we can go back into rehearsals and continue to improve our work based on our audience's honest opinion."

Tickets cost from £12.50 to £38.

ENTERTAINMENT & LISTINGS

Sofie's shattering humour

By James Richings

WHEN making the decision to leave her native Denmark for England, Sofie Hagen did not know what to expect.

Four years on, the comedian has won numerous awards and is cementing her name in the entertainment industry.

And as part of her, 'Shimmer Shatter' UK tour, the Dane will be arriving at the Old Fire Station in Oxford this Saturday.

The comic's previous encounter at the George Street venue saw her perform for five minutes to a crowd of seven people.

And even though the experience was a good but brief one, she hopes there will be more in the audience this weekend.

"It will be wonderful to come back to a slightly different kind of night," Sofie told the Guardian.

"But I am scared someone is going to recognise me from years ago and say "that was that girl who had really bad jokes" and left after five minutes!"

About the tour name, Sofie revealed, 'Shatter' is one of my favourite words in the English language.

"I love the contrast between 'Shimmer' and 'Shatter'.

"There is a darkness to my show, even though the message is a positive one.

"I like talking about dark stuff. "It's important."

Prior to her move from Copenhagen to London in 2012 to pursue a career in comedy, Sofie worked for a number of charities in her native country.

Charities such as 'Red Cross Youth,' Danish Refugee Council' and the 'Danish Detaining Group' were just some of the aid organisations she worked for.

But after work, the aspiring comic would travel all over Copenhagen to try and get into comedy clubs, so she could get a taste of performing her material live.

The positive responses from audiences gave her the confidence to move to the UK to take on comedy full-time.

And since moving, she has won a number of comedy awards, including the 'Best Newcomer' category at the 2014 Chortle Awards.

When talking about working for a number of charities, Sofie said, "It was very emotionally hard – but I loved it and I was good at it.

"But at the same time I was discovering the Danish comedy circuit.

"Ask any Danish comedian who was around six years ago and they will all tell you that I was so annoying.

"I would go to all the open mics and comedy clubs in Copenhagen that I could find.

"After the shows I would try and engage the comedians in talks about comedy as I just wanted to have comedy in my life.

"Eventually one of them said, "You have a five minute spot on Tuesday be there."

"I was too afraid to turn it down so I did the gig and never looked back.

"They knew I wanted to be a comedian before I did."

The show is suitable for over 16s and will start at 8pm.

Holly, Jolly Recipes for Merry Mornings

This holiday season, make your mornings merry and savor time with loved ones visiting from near and far with festive recipes like Christmas Tree Waffles and Overnight Cinnamon Roll Casserole.

"You don't have to get up early to impress guests with a holiday breakfast," said Chef Kevon Vetter of the McCormick Kitchens. "Take waffles simply add green food color to the batter then dust with powdered sugar 'snow' to resemble Christmas trees. Or prepare a cinnamon roll casserole the night before. Soak cut-up challah bread in milk and cinnamon overnight, bake until golden in the morning. Finish off with a drizzle of cream cheese frosting."

For more Christmas tips and recipes, find McCormick on Pinterest and Facebook, and visit McCormick.com.

Christmas Tree Waffles

Prep time: 5 minutes
Cook time: 20 minutes
Servings: 4

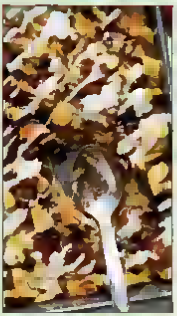
2 cups waffle mix
1 1/3 cups milk
1 egg
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 teaspoons McCormick Pure Vanilla Extract
15 drops McCormick Green Food Color
Confectioners' sugar
Mini candy-coated chocolate pieces

Preheat round waffle iron. Spray with no stick cooking spray. Mix waffle mix, milk, egg, vegetable oil, vanilla and food coloring until blended.

Pour about 1/3 cup of batter onto center of hot waffle iron. Close lid. Cook about 5 minutes or until no longer steaming. Carefully remove waffle. Repeat with remaining batter.

Break each waffle into 4 triangles. Layer 3 triangles on a serving plate to resemble a Christmas tree. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Use candy-coated pieces to decorate tree as ornaments.

Overnight Cinnamon Roll Casserole



Prep time: 10 minutes
Cook time: 25 minutes
Servings: 12

12 eggs
1 1/2 cups plus 3 tablespoons milk, divided
2 tablespoons McCormick Ground Cinnamon, divided
5 teaspoons McCormick Pure Vanilla Extract, divided
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1 loaf challah or brioche bread, cubed
1/4 cup butter, melted
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup whipped cream cheese
3 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

Mix eggs, 1 1/2 cups of milk, 1 tablespoon of cinnamon, 3 teaspoons of vanilla and baking powder in large bowl with wire whisk until well blended. Add bread cubes, toss to coat well. Pour into 13x9-inch baking dish sprayed with no stick cooking spray. Cover. Refrigerate at least 4 hours or overnight.

Preheat oven to 350°F. Remove casserole from refrigerator. Mix melted butter, brown sugar and remaining 1 tablespoon cinnamon in small bowl until well blended. Drizzle over casserole. Let stand 10 to 15 minutes.

Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until golden brown. Let stand 5 minutes before serving.

Honda HR-V 1.6 i-DTEC EX

WHEN you first see the HR V you will think is it a coupe or an SUV? That's exactly what I thought, but I have been told that Honda wanted it to have the lines of a coupe but also the robustness of an SUV – and to be honest they seem to have pulled that off rather well and now the HR V is one of the better looking SUV's currently on the market

By Anthony Yates

Engine:

The 1.6 Litre i DTEC (120PS) has 300Nm of torque and is actually a fantastic little diesel engine and is so far this year one of the better ones I have come across. I am also happy to report that the engine feels very refined and has bags of torque available when you need it most which makes motorway driving easy, quiet and unfussy.

The HR V will also return a combined 58.9MPG if driven with a very light right foot – and the emissions came in at a very respectable 108 g/km. Top speed will also stop at around 119mph and 0-62 will come in around10 seconds.

On the road:

The HR V does not feel heavy or cumbersome at all and you can sense that Honda has put in a lot of effort in setting up the suspension and chassis to help deal with the many different surfaces the HR-V will come across in its lifetime – be that the morning school run or that camping trip away in a remote part of Scotland.

Inside:

The interior is of a good standard and its controls are well set out and all the dials are clear. I did not like the driver's seat as I found I just couldn't get the seating position perfect for me – but then I am quite fussy. Space inside is also good – better than most, and you could easily fit in a very large family.

Plus – everything inside the HR V feels well put together. Passenger leg room is also fine as is the boot space with a seats up capacity of (470 litres) and seats folded flat capacity of (1533 litres).

Standard equipment in the EX model range is good with equipment such as heated front seats, leather interior, 17" alloys, smart entry & start, panoramic open glass roof, driver/passenger & side airbags along with ABS & vehicle stability assist, forward collision warning, land departure warning system, highbeam support system and traffic sign recognition system.

The list does not stop there either – and when it comes to entertainment you get Honda's brilliant Connect System which consists of a 7" touch screen with CD/radio/DAB with USB support and internet browsing.

To sum up:

A good buy – If you are searching for one of the best looking compact SUV's currently on the market with the addition of some top specification and enough space to keep any large family happy then the HR V could be the perfect fit.

Price:

£26,055 OTR not including fitted options

THE LAW HAS CHANGED ...
DO YOU HAVE THE CORRECT GAS?
We can now offer R1234YF car air-con recharge and service

Wheatley CAR CENTRE

Is your car 2013 or newer? If so, you will need the correct gas.

As of the 7th September 2016 we are able to offer R1234yf refrigerent re-gassing, or a car air-con recharge as sometimes known at our Wheatley Car Centre Branch.

This gas is compulsory for new cars from 2013 all be it has been around since 2010, although some manufacturers are still refusing to use this, notably Mercedes who are not happy with the flammable nature of the gas, which in turn means not many companies offer the re-gassing service for cars using r1234yf. But due to the amount of cars we sell we have needed to be able have this service onsite so we can now offer this service to our customers.

A common question is why the old, r134a gas found in most cars today, is being replaced?

It's driven by environmental concerns as the new gas is more environmentally friendly.

So, far ALL your re-gas and service needs please contact our Wheatley Car Centre Service Department, tel. 01865 874046 opt 2 • www.wheatleycarcentre.co.uk

Massa's swansong sees him take ninth in Abu Dhabi GP

By Adam Flinn

FELIPE Massa ended his 250th and final Formula One race m the points as he drove a solid race to come ninth in Sunday s season-ending Abu Dhabi Grand Prix.

In a race that saw Nico Rosberg crowned the 2016 champion over his Mercedes team-mate Lewis Hamilton, Massa made good use of the two-stop strategy to score two points in his F1 swansong.

Massa battled with Williams team-mate Valtteri Bottas in the early stages of the race, with the Finn able to get past after launching his car up the inside

But Massa got back past when Bottas suffered suspension problems a few laps later to get back into ninth, where he remained after the pit-stops.

It means that 35-year old Massa ends his 14 years in Formula One with 11 wins 41 podiums and 1,124 points.

"I m proud to have been fighting up to the last lap of the race in the same way I fought in the first lap of my career," said Massa.

"I want to say thank you to everyone everyone who has been with me all the way to the fans and to Williams who I will keep supporting in the future

"Thank you to everyone who has been part of everything I have been through, I have finished my career with my head up, the same way I started."

Ahead of the race, Massa was given some leaving gifts from his team including his Wilhams car from the Brazilian Grand Prix two weeks ago

Rob Smedley head of performance engineering at Williams said. "I've known Felipe since he was a child, he s one of my best mates.

"He s not only a great driver with an outstanding career but a really good human being as well.

"I wish him all the best for his life in the future."

However it was a disappointing end to the season for Bottas, who was forced to retire from the race on lap six.

He had not long overtaken Massa for ninth place, but had to pit with a rear suspension issue which ended his afternoon early Bottas said. "When I was running in ninth, I felt something suddenly break in the rear of the car with the suspension and the car was pretty undrivable after that.

"We tried to fix it in the garage, but it was ant possible so we had to retire.

"It is a shame to end the season like this, but it does mean that I'm now very much looking forward to next year"

The results mean that Williams finished fifth in the constructors' championship with 138 points, after they were beaten to fourth by Force India.

Renault round off frustrating season

RENAULT'S disappointing season concluded in fitting fashion as last place for Jolyon Palmer and a retirement for Kevin Magnussen was all the Enstone-based team could achieve in Abu Dhabi on Sunday

Palmer, however, had made a promising start to the race and was up to 11th in the early stages.

But his Renault suffered much more from tyre degradation than those around him, meaning he had to make three pitstops while most of the grid did two.

A late attempt to overtake Carlos Sainz went wrong and he hit the Toro Rosso driver, receiving a five-second penalty for his efforts and ending the race 17th.

Palmer said. "I had a really good start and was keeping pace with the Wilhams for a while but unfortunately the tyre degradation was unbelievable for us

"I was trying to fight with everyone through the race but I had on grip which makes it very difficult."

Magnussen s race was effectively over on the first lap after a collision damaged his suspension, and he stopped on lap five.

He said "We tried to continue but it was clear that something was broken."

Haas miss out on the points again

HAAS F1 missed out on scoring points in the final race of the season in Abu Dhabi on Sunday with Romain Grosjean finishing in 11th place and Esteban Gutierrez 12th

Frustratingly it was the team s eighth 11th-place finish of the year, although Grosjean was a full 17 seconds behind Fernando Alonso in 10th.

Both drivers stopped twice for tyres during the race and had a relatively quiet afternoon, with Grosjean winning the inter-team battle.

He said. "We ve had a wonderful season and surprised everyone with some highs and some lows

"There are a lot of things we can improve through the winter, mainly about the tyres so I'm looking forward to next season."

Gutierrez, who drove his last race for Haas said. "I'm very happy to have worked with everyone on this team.

"I really did try my best to give them my best performance, and hopefully this leaves them all with a great memory"

Elsewhere fellow Banbury based team Manor ended 13th and 14th with Esteban Ocon and Pascal Wehrlem respectively

The two drivers collided during the race with each blaming the other one for it, although no major damage was caused.

Lynn ends GP2 with victory

OXFORD BASED GP2 racer Alex Lynn rounded off his season with victory in the sprint race in Abu Dhabi on Sunday

He led from lights to flag to win the final race of the season ahead of Johnny Cecotto and Sergey Sirotkin while Pierre Gasly was confirmed as series champion.

The Williams F1 test driver held the lead going into the first corner and proceeded to pull away never looking like losing

It came after he finished eighth in Saturday s feature race and ended the season sixth in the standings on 124 points

Lynn said "It feels really good to repay the DAMS guys for everything after a tough season, and just a really nice way to top off the year and go out in style

"With about 10 laps remaining I began to feel confident. I could see Sergey dropping back, and I felt in control."

Lynn has confirmed he will not be contesting a third season in GP2 in 2017 and has yet to formally announce his plans

Oxford Ladies hit rock bottom

OXFORD Hockey Club Ladies 1s slipped to the bottom of the table after a damaging 4-1 defeat at fellow strugglers Buckingham 2s on Saturday.

On a cold morning, the game started evenly with a few forays forward by both teams. It was Buckingham who broke the deadlock when an attack through the middle of the park forced a save from Emma Henriksen in the Oxford goal, but the ball fell kindly to Emily Protheroe to finish.

OHC were then punished for a loose ball out of defence and the opposition pounced again to double their advantage through Andrea Freshwater.

Oxford stepped up their game and a great ball into the D from Emily Malden meant Christy Barnard could latch on to it and put the ball beyond the Buckingham keeper to reduce the deficit.

Oxford were next to score, but Barnard, who deflected the ball into the net, had her effort disallowed for an earlier foot foul.

Buckingham improved in the second half and George Holme scored the hosts third to give them breathing space.

And, with 10 minutes remaining, Freshwater grabbed her second of the afternoon when she skilfully beat three defenders before notching Buckingham's fourth goal to seal a fine victory.

Most valuable player for Oxford was Jess Upjohn.

New England boss drops in to present RAF awards

By George Welch

THE winners of the 2016 RAF Benson Sports Personality of the Year Awards have been announced.

Six awards were handed out to those who have made a significant contribution to sport at the air base over the last year, and beyond.

Nominees were joined by the new England manager Gareth Southgate, as well as the Air Officer Commanding No 2 Group, Air Vice-Marshal Gavin Parker, who both presented awards along with the Station Commander.

Air Vice-Marshal Parker was visiting the station for the second time in two days after conducting the annual formal inspection the day before.

A keen sportsman himself, he said: "My heartiest congratulations to all the winners. The thing that struck me about all of the nominations is the level of effort and commitment, the selflessness from you all.

"You should be very proud of your nominations."

Group captain Hamish Cormack, station commander at RAF Benson, said: "Our sports awards are one of the highlights of the year. It is important that we formally recognise the achievements of those who go above and beyond to excel in their chosen sport.

"Regardless of their role in sport the teamwork, discipline, professionalism and tenacity required directly transfers to their day jobs.

"All our award winners should be rightly proud of their fantastic achievements."

Didcot sink Supermarine as they extend winning run

DIDCOT Town made it five wins in a row to propel them into play-off contention.

The latest victims of Diddy's run were Swindon Supermarine, who beat Didcot 5-1 on the opening day of the Evo Stik League Southern Division 1 South & West season.

But on this occasion Andy Ballard's men ran out 3-1 winners in Swindon.

The Railwaymen had their hosts under pressure from kick off and took the lead on 15 minutes. The Supermarine defence failed to deal with a Sam Elkins deflected cross and Louis Joyce fired past Connor Johns.

Against the run of play, Swindon pulled level when former Didcot player George Reid's cross was diverted into the net by Declan Benjamin 10 minutes from the interval.

But Didcot regained the lead five minutes later when Ben Whitehead's shot rebounded off the post into the path of Joyce who made no mistake.

Whitehead sealed a deserved victory by firing past Johns. It saw Didcot move into the top 10 for the first time this season.

• Didcot Town's clash with second-placed Evesham United on Tuesday was postponed due to a frozen pitch.

Stars snuffed out twice

OXFORD City Stars lost both weekend matches to lose more ground on the league leaders.

Simon Anderson's side have lost three consecutive matches in the NIHL1 and have lost five of their previous seven matches in all competitions.

The Stars lost 6-3 at leaders Chelmsford Chieftains on Saturday and were thunderstruck 5-3 by Milton Keynes Thunder at Oxford Ice Rink on Sunday.

The Stars raced to a 2-0 lead within six minutes at Chelmsford through Ben Paynter and Alan Green but were pegged back to 2-2 before the end of the first period. By the time Joe Edwards scored for Oxford in the last period his side had already conceded five.

As the visitors went all out to get back in the match, Chelmsford scored three more times in the final 10 minutes.

On Sunday, the Thunder, who were 3-0 up after the first period, powered to a 5-0 lead before Oxford woke up and scored three goals in the last six minutes.

The Stars travel to Chelmsford for the return fixture against the Chieftains on Sunday.

Pepperell tells of delight at saving European Tour card

AFTER saving his European Tour card at Q School, Abingdon golfer Eddie Pepperell said the experience was "exhilarating".

The Frilford Heath golfer required a top-25 finish at the six-day event in Spain last month after a poor run at the end of last season.

Missing seven cuts in his last eight tournaments left him outside the top-110 in the Race to Dubai, meaning he did not automatically keep his card. But an upturn in form at Q School allowed Pepperell to finish joint fifth to recapture a place on tour.

Speaking of his success at the PGA Catalunya Resort, he said: "Exhilarating is the word. In a totally different way to what it's like to be in contention at Wentworth, but still, totally encapsulating."

The 25-year-old was in fine form and strung six successive rounds under par.

Pepperell tees off at the Alfred Dunhill Championship in South Africa today to mark the new European Tour season.

Club reach first round of FA Buildbase Trophy for first time

North Leigh cup heroics...

By George Welch

NORTH Leigh beat higher opposition for the fourth time this season to create more history as they secured their passage into the first round of the Buildbase FA Trophy for the first time in their history

A single goal was enough to secure victory at Eynsham Park on Saturday against their latest victims Kingstonian, who play a level above the Millers in the Isthmian League Premier Division.

Leighs winner, struck home by attacking midfielder Aaron Woodley in the 46th minute, was the decisive moment but an inspired performance from Manny Agboola in the Leigh goal helped the west Oxfordshire side make more cup history, as John Brough's men also reached the FA Cup fourth qualifying round for the first time earlier this year

Woodley s winner with 24 minutes to go was a moment of decisive quality when he latched onto a cross from the left at the edge of the Kingstonian penalty area.

With his back to goal he controlled the ball, swivelled and hit a superb left foot shot that flew past the visitors keeper Robert Tolfrey into the far corner

The first half had been edged by Kingstonian who had created a number of good chances but Agboola, who was in fine form, stopped everything that came his way

The new signing thwarted Kingstonian forward Joe Turner the pick of the visitors attackers, on numerous occasions but none were better than the save he made on 19 minutes

Turner received the ball wide left, cut inside a defender and moved the ball across the edge of the Millers penalty area before hitting a hard right foot shot Agboola somehow got a hand to the ball despite a deflection on the way to pull off a magnificent save

After a first half of no clear cut chances, the second half saw more dominance by the away side and for the first 15 minutes the Millers were pegged back in their own half and had to defend a flurry of corners stoutly

However the Millers were dangerous on the break with George Seacole Woodley and Roger James a constant threat to the visiting defence

After the winning goal mid way through the second half the pressure on the Millers intensified – but defenders Stuart Hole and Dan James, who both had excellent games, ensured the back line held firm.

Midfielder James Fawke had a half chance to add to the Millers lead but his snap shot drifted wide.

The last 10 minutes saw the K's threw everything at Leigh s defence but Agboola was in inspired form in the Leigh goal.

North Leigh will travel to South Park on December 10 after Monday s first round draw

Leigh s Tuesday night local derby against Wantage Town was abandoned after 26 minutes due to a frozen pitch. The Fred s were 1-0 up

...but City crash out in upset

WHILE North Leigh continue to break cup records this season, Oxford City are having a season to forget.

Languishing in the lower third of the National League South – despite a recent resurgence of three consecutive league wins – City failed to progress beyond the second qualifying round of the FA Cup in September

And on Saturday the Hoops calamitous cup campaign continued with a 2-1 home defeat to lower league side South Park, who played nearly an hour without a goalkeeper and were reduced to 10 men, in the Buildbase FA Trophy third qualifying round.

City boss Justin Merritt admitted before the cup tie that he knew little of the Surrey-based Isthmian Division One side but that did not stop him making several changes to the side that demolished Margate 5-0 the previous weekend.

Knowing little of each other, early exchanges were tentative with no clear-cut chances falling to either side, and the visitors cause was not helped when goalkeeper James Wastell had to be replaced by an outfield player just after the half hour mark.

Despite that, it was South Park who took the lead on the cusp of half time through captain Kieran Lavery City failed to break down the Sparks until the 77th minute when Tom Winters levelled the scores with a trademark shot from outside the box.

But South Park stole victory with three minutes left on the clock through Joe Jackson to set up a first round home tie against another Oxfordshire side...North Leigh.

Heavy defeats keep coming for the Freds

WANTAGE Town lost 5-1 twice in five days as they continue to struggle at the foot of the Division 1 South & West table

Following a 5-1 defeat at Evesham United on Tuesday last week, the Freds lost by the same score at fellow strugglers Paulton Rovers on Saturday Wantage hardly competed in a match that was completely dominated by their hosts.

The home side began brightly but Kane Simpson was denied by Edrie Cavanagh in the Wantage goal, who despite the scoreline had a fine game

Somehow Rovers went in at the break only 1-0 up, courtesy of Elliott Gibbons on the cusp of half time

But Paulton were out of sight four minutes into the second half after Simpson fired home a curling effort and Gibbons nodded beyond Cavanagh to make it 3-0

Kailan Gauld scored Rovers' fourth on the hour and Simpson grabbed their fifth – and his brace – 11 minutes from time

Wantage's Mark Francis scored from the spot on 86 minutes, but it proved nothing more than a late consolation.

The Freds were 1-0 up against North Leigh on Tuesday night but the match was abandoned after 20 minutes due to a frozen pitch.

U's hold leaders to draw

By George Welch

OXFORD United put in a spirited performance to draw 1 1 with table-topping and record-breaking Scunthorpe United on Saturday

Trailing to a Duane Holmes header the U s fought back superbly and a Phil Edwards goal gave them a point from an entertaining 90 minutes

The home side, fresh from five straight wins, were full of confidence and played at a high tempo but United matched that effort.

The first 25 minutes saw two good sides largely cancel each other out until Josh Morris forced Oxford goalkeeper Simon Eastwood into a flying save with a blistering shot from the edge of the box.

The Iron dominated possession in the period before the break and Kevin van Veen went closest with another effort from the edge of the box.

But Oxford responded through Chris Maguire who forced an excellent save from the Iron s goalkeeper Luke Daniels on the half hour mark with a free kick.

Scunthorpe committed men forward and were rewarded when they took the lead on 35 minutes

As United failed to clear their lines a cross from Morris found Holmes, the smallest player on the pitch, who guided an unchallenged header inside the far post, giving Eastwood no chance.

As mist began to swirl around Glanford Park and the locals started to believe they would set a new club record of 22 home games without defeat, Oxford made a storming start to the second half and were back on level terms just two minutes after the restart.

A short right wing corner from Maguire found Alex MacDonald, who crossed into a crowded box and the ball was turned home from close range by on-loan defender Phil Edwards to register his first goal for the club

It was the first goal conceded by Scunthorpe in four games and suddenly they found themselves under pressure from Oxford.

A Kane Hemmings looping header was tipped on to the bar by Daniels on 51 minutes as the Yellows looked to get their noses in front.

Substitute Marvin Johnson then powered past his man to set up Hemmings, only for the ball to get stuck behind the striker's feet as he tried to bundle it home

Scunthorpe did go close to snatching a winner twice as, first striker Van Veen glanced a header just wide of the far post from Morris' in-swinging free-kick before Jamie Ness fired inches wide.

But Scunthorpe had to settle for a point to break the previous unbeaten home record which had stood for 65 years
